The masters and subscribers of the Warrenton Hunt wish to thank you for your patronage of the local businesses and events showcased in the Hunt Country Community Resource Guide.

As one of the oldest active fox hunting organizations in the United States, the Warrenton Hunt has been embedded in the life of the countryside since 1887. Because fox hunting requires large expanses of open land, the future of the sport depends on the preservation of the rural landscape. The subscribers of the Warrenton Hunt are deeply appreciative of the gracious hospitality of the farmers and landowners who continue to permit us to ride over their properties. As a neighborly service to these generous folks, our subscribers customarily have done their best to share with them our first-hand recommendations for the skilled talents of an array of service providers. Now we are offering these same endorsements to the larger community. Proceeds from the sale of this Guide will support the care of the Warrenton foxhounds.

The advertisers in the guide represent an outstanding group of shops, restaurants, and services ready to help you with all your farm and personal needs. Please keep this Guide handy for the coming year, and let these fine sponsors serve you. Tell them you found their advertisement in the Hunt Country Community Resource Guide!

HUNT NIGHT

SUNDAY, September 1, 2024
at the Warrenton Horse Show

The historic Warrenton Horse Show culminates with Sunday's Hunt Night, restricted to horses who also are "fairly hunted", meaning that they have fox hunted at least six times during the previous year. As day turns to evening, enjoy the big events including the ladies sidesaddle jumping, Pair and Team competitions, the Corinthian class, and the highlight of the night: The Staff Class.

Watch the professionals crack their whips, blow their horns, and jump things you can't imagine!

Food and clothing vendors are on site all week.
